

Obituary

Died: Sunday, July 26, 2020

Jeremy Scott Meanor, 35, of Punxsutawney, PA, passed away in his sleep on Sunday, July 26th, 2020. He was at home with his dad in Chester, Virginia at the time of his passing. Jeremy was preceded in death by his paternal and maternal grandparents, Al and Nancy Meanor of Punxsutawney; and Irvin (Buck) and Bonnie Foltz of Reynoldsville, PA.

He is survived by his beloved son, Tristan. He's also survived by Lelia Jones, the love of his life; his mother Debra Meanor and his father Christopher Meanor. Additionally, he's survived by his sister Kristin Meanor; his brothers Jason Meanor and wife Danielle, as well as Justin Meanor and wife Amanda. Also surviving are 5 nieces and 2 nephews.

Jeremy was a fun-loving, tender hearted soul who touched each person he met with his smile, warmth, and good deeds. He genuinely cared for others and would go out of his way to help in any way he could. Jeremy was also a hard worker, from his early years playing baseball to his positions in the service industry.

Jeremy was trained in forestry and carpentry just out of high school. He then pursued a Precision Machining Technology Certification at John Tyler Community College, attaining honor roll status and a position at Proform Powder Metals.

He was also a boot camp honor graduate and team leader. Jeremy's highest calling was as a loving and dedicated father. He spent considerable time with his son, Tristan, loving, laughing and caring for him. Family time was most important to Jeremy. His many dear friends and family will miss Jeremy's singing, dancing and daily expressions of kindness.
